DYNAMIC TEACHER of mathematics, keeper of student records, legendary perfectionist—retiring Miss Ida Belle Moore is revered by over four decades of GHS teachers and students.

Innovations highlight GHS history

Not always has GHS been a sprawling complex of landscaped lawn, club-tended gardens, parking lots, stadium, and ten teeming classroom buildings. Forty years ago this year, three structures—the main building, science building, and cafeteria building—were the nucleus of GHS. Mr. C. W. Phillips was principal then, and remained so until his resignation in 1933. Mr. E. T. McSween took his place, but in February the next year he left for Columbia University. Mr. A. P. Routh became "acting principal," and from then to the present, thirty-five years and more, he has been an "acting" principal—a planner, an organizer, an innovator.

Under Mr. Routh's imaginative and enterprizing guidance GHS has attained an enviable reputation. For student leadership and club services; for excellence in music, publications, and athletics; and especially for academic achievements, this school is widely known. Each year hundreds of graduates have emerged to verify its academic effectiveness and its diverse opportunties for personal growth.

Mr. Routh, Miss Ida Belle Moore and Miss Estelle Mitchell —both of whom preceded him at GHS by one year—and many other veterans have seen this school grow and change. In 1940 a wooden structure that became inadequate for a shop and the band got a new floor and turned into a girl's gymnasium; while a new vocational building provided rooms for shops, band, orchestra, drafting, and diversified occupations. In the late 1940's scrub pines were scraped from a slope to make room for the stadium and parking lot. Next, enhancing the sports program and honoring Sigmund Pearl Jr., a field house was donated by his father.

Soon afterward an old wooden boys' gym was removed, followed by the construction of a modern plant that drew many interested observers, who joined the student body in watching seven 33-ton concrete girders being lifted into place.

Trying to meet needs for space and facilities, the school board provided three more structures at GHS—in 1956 a home economics and a music building; in 1967, a library—all with the best possible equipment.

The school that began as three buildings "in the country" had become a modern ten-structure plant. Parking facilities changed from a 150-bicycle rack to a large paved area. A half dozen buses increased to a fleet of twenty-nine. Skirt lengths shifted from knee to ankle, back to knee and above, with hair styles varying just as widely. Students became better informed, more travelled, less easy to please.

A succession of innovations kept GHS attuned to the times. Television history, a language laboratory, accelerated English, two-hour composition laboratories, advanced placement courses, analytics, computor science—these are typical of steps taken to up-date the curriculum. The guidance program expanded. Various groups, year after year, won championships or awards.

The change of name to Grimsley in 1962 was painful; but left intact, along with the initials GHS, were faculty and student loyalty to standards of excellence and Mr. A. P. Routh's devotion to this school's continuing worth and progress.

IMPRESSIVE PANELS in the auditorium, painted in 1934, portray mankind's eternal quest for knowledge and skill.

Mr. A. P. Routh
Grimsley Senior High School
Westover Terrace
Greensboro, North Carolina

Dear Mr. Routh,

In a very few days we who comprise the Class of 1969 will assemble for our graduation exercises, and you will address us as the last class to graduate under your principalship. At that time we shall experience mingled feelings of joy and sorrow as we conclude a meaningful three-year association with you.

For the past thirty-six years you have helped Grimsley to expand and progress. As a concerned administrator, you have been alert to every variation in Grimsley's scenes and moods. Her problems, failures, and triumphs have merited your daily attention and interest.

In your earnest efforts toward "excellence in education," you have encouraged superior standards, initiated valuable courses, and promoted worthwhile activities. Your personal demonstrations of scholarship, service, skill, sportsmanship, sociability, spirit, and success have impressed and influenced the lives of countless Whirlies.

To you, Mr. Routh, as an expression of our lasting admiration and appreciation, we proudly dedicate the 1969 WHIRLIGIG.

Sincerely,

The Class of 1969

IN RARE MOMENT of complete relaxation, Mr. Routh enjoys conversation with a group of Grimsley students.

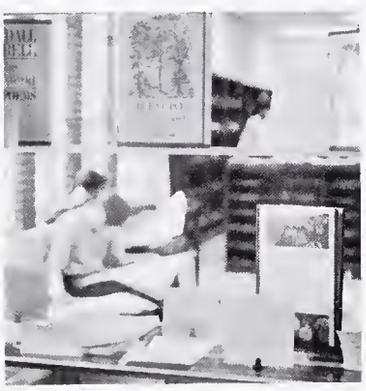
FACES of Mr. and Mrs. Routh reflect their devotion and the serenity of a home they have made pleasurable to countless friends.

INVESTIGATION results in new insights for inquiring young minds.

THROUGH the years, classes and academic standards remain demanding.



FOR SCHOLARS, books are windows of the world.

scholarship

Chant Chaucer's "Prologue," master foreign speech,
Pay close attention while instructors teach.
Examine frogs and graphs with equal care,
Explore exciting concepts, be aware.
Set academic standards, persevere,
Receive the Torchlight tap your Junior year.
Exempt exams, make worthy grades each day,
Read books, see films, absorb what wise men say.
Compete against yourself, enjoy your mind,
And value well the beauty of each find.

skill

Produce a Class Day show, a Christmas dance,
Express yourself, give aptitude a chance.
Outscore opponents, lead a cheering throng,
Entice your list'ners with a mellow song.
Create a hairdo, sketch a wistful scene,
Work well with other people, be serene.
Excel in schoolwork, plan a five-course meal,
Perform in concerts, make a role seem real.
Perceive your talent as a special sort,
And search for self-fulfillment in your forte.

SKILLFUL SYNTHESIS of many talents results in an enticing May Day production.

SKILL AND SERVICE combine as young homemakers prepare food for a club banquet.

PROWESS in athletics is augmented by continual practice.

Plant beautifying shrubs, help someone new,
Prepare a speech, assist the stagehand crew.
Complete a project, ease a teacher's load,
Design a realistic honor code.
Contribute freely, sweep the parking lots,
Become a tutor, babysit for tots.
Run errands, marshal at an ev'ning show,
Sell pencils, hold an office high or low.
Assume demanding duties, never shirk,
And channel thought and action into work.

service

PHYSICIAN'S PRESENCE at every GHS football game safeguards against unattended casualties.

ALWAYS on duty, Mr. Routh reviews student records.

1968 CANDIDATES for school offices are among the students who offer their time and energy.

IN VICTORY or defeat, teamwork and honest competition build praiseworthy athletes.

FACULTY MEMBERS turn out to support colleagues in annual Faculty-Students basketball game.

sportsmanship

Accept the umpire's ruling with good will,
Be just, respect your adversary's skill.
Promote fair play, deserve each point you earn,
Stress honest competition as you learn.
Admit that you have erred, begin anew.
Unite in teamwork, function with the crew.
Win if you can, but after you have won,
Let others have their moments in the sun.
Exert yourself, continue to compete,
And profit from both triumph and defeat.

GHS SUPPORTERS prepare blue and white streamers, symbols of dauntless esprit de corps.

SPIRITED LEADERS evoke energetic optimism in crowds of Whirlies at afternoon rallies.

ONFERENCE during baseball game
etermines strategies and unifies ıe team.

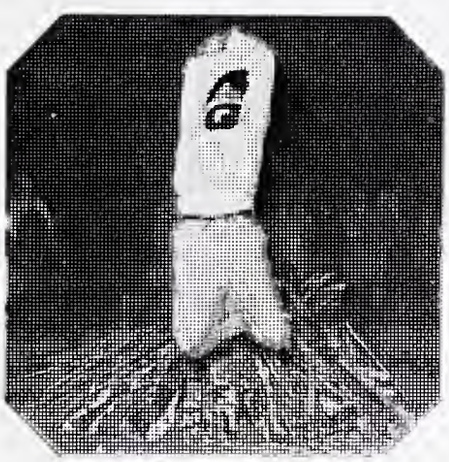
FIREY ENTHUSIASM always kindles school spirit.



Explode at rallies, urge a Whirlie win,
Invest in season tickets with a grin.
Pep up, wear 'top 'em' hats and 'stomp 'em' boots,
Speak up in class, join clubs, bring in recruits.
Paint cars and banners blue, attend each game,
Try new ways, but respect tradition's claim.
Campaign with vibrant courage, vote by choice,
Recite "I pledge allegiance . . ." as one voice.
Become involved, persist, defend your rights,
And love the challenge of unconquered heights.

spirit

sociability

Converse in crowded halls, relate and rove,
Convene with fellow classmates in the grove.
Attend each open house and sports event,
Let fun and laughter shared be your intent.
Bid Senior Tea farewells while sipping punch,
Discuss the morning's progress during lunch.
Applaud assembly skits, be debonair,
Meet new friends, value old ones, learn to care.
Enjoy the whirl, let nothing cause a rift,
And cherish friendship as a priceless gift.

CONVIVIAL WHIRLIES cluster to converse in Grimsley's grove.

EVEN in snowy weather, students socialize as they wait for school buses.

Conclude a long-range project, pass a test,
Surpass a former record, do your best.
Achieve distinction, win sincere applause,
Mature, accept your handicaps and flaws.
Receive a special honor you deserve,
Accomplish all you can with skill and verve.
Impress your classmates, give a stirring talk,
Be ready for your graduation walk.
Establish goals beyond those you have tried,
And recognize a sense of well-earned pride.

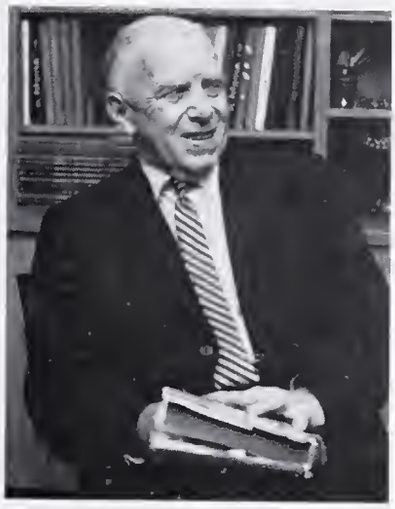
success

AT GRADUATION, Rabbi Joseph Asher addresses and challenges the 1968 Senior Class.

TWELVE YEARS of hard work cumulate in feelings of pride and relief at graduation.

TO HUNDREDS of Grimsley graduates, membership in Torchlight is a coveted honor.

SINCE Grimsley's earliest days, students have found time to congregate for carefree conversation.



Scholarship belongs not only to someone with above-average intelligence, but also to one who uses his intelligence for the benefit of others. A scholar cannot be made; a scholar grows. It is the goal of Grimsley to see that he receives the guidance necessary to train his ever-expanding mind. Here scholarship is rewarded through organizations such as Torchlight, special recognition and privileges, and offers for future study.

of ever-increasing knowledge

A scholar is recognized by his enthusiasm for learning, his pursuit of knowledge and willingness to share with others. Scholarship is a goal toward which students strive. Attending Governor's School, ranking high in National Merit competition, and taking AP courses are a few achievements of Grimsley scholars. But scholarship does not end with high school. It is a seed planted, watered, and nurtured in preparation for the day when it will bloom in usefulness. So it is with the scholar.

ESTABLISHING rapport with her students is as important to Miss Joyner as teaching English.

TEACHER: "Here is your assignment sheet for the next three months. Notice that Silas Marner is due in two weeks and Julius Caesar in four. After that . . . your first research paper!"

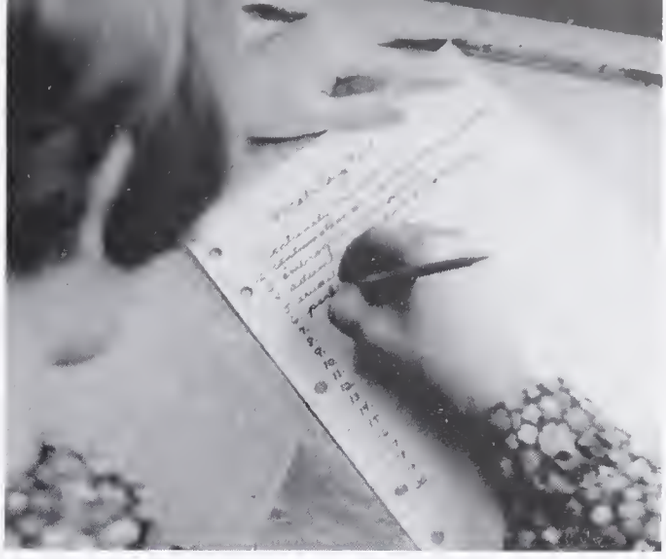
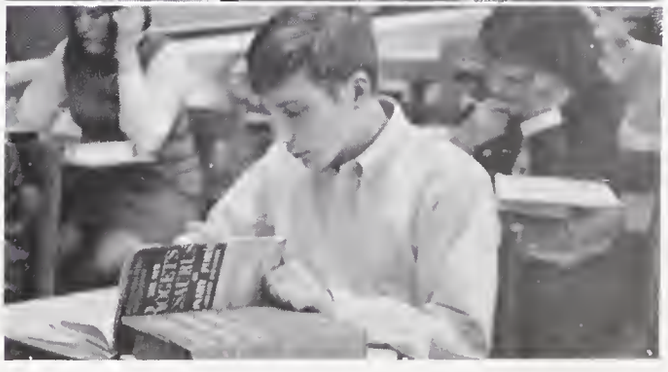
TEACHER: "NO! Like most English courses at Grimsley, ours will feature dramatizations, discussions, speakers, records, parallel reading, ditto sheets, and pop tests. Now take out one clean sheet of paper . . ."

SOPHOMORE: "And it's required!"



VOCABULARY study opens doors to strange worlds, reveals the magic of words.

COMPOSITION LAB provides materials, motivation, and opportunities for a Sophomore's best writing.



TEACHER: "Why, next year you will study American literature in depth, reading The Scarlet Letter and The Red Badge of Courage. Seniors are concerned with (and by) English classics: Canterbury Tales, Macbeth, Hamlet . . ."

SOPHOMORE: " 'Oh, that this too, too solid flesh would melt!' "

TEACHER: And remember, ambitious students can earn quality points in accelerated English or in our Advanced Placement program, which is new this year. Also, we offer creative writing and Shakespeare."

TEACHER: " 'Lucky I!' "

GIVEN: Geometry and algebra to almost every student at Grimsley.

ASSUMPTION: Farther on down mathematics Roe is Moore of the same, in college algebra, trigonometry, analytics, and elementary analysis.

TO PROVE: That you can pass.

STATEMENTS: (On any given Thursday)

1 "You say that's BABY algebra?!"

2 "I did it! I proved a triangle equal to a square!"

3 "If mountain A is negative fifty-seven feet tall . . ."

4 "I forgot my compass again!"

PROBLEM: Science

HYPOTHESIS: Science is fun.

MATERIALS: One sophomore and a microscope; one upperclassman and a jungle of test tubes.

PROCEDURE: (1) Lugging heavy textbook and insect display, approach science building. (2) Ignoring faint formaldehyde odor, climb second floor steps and enter classroom. (3) Begin scientific countdown until bell.

RESULTS: Notebook full of lopsided amoebas and unbalanced equations.

CONCLUSION: Upon completion of said experiment, proceed to advanced biology, physics, and/or the newly initiated computer science course.

SHS awards savings bond to a worthy member

With initiations conducted completely in Spanish, the Spanish Honor Society began its thirteenth year. Despite a small membership, SHS members continued to provide tutorial assistance for other Spanish students.

Instead of selling potato chips as they have done in recent years, the members decided to pay dues. In the spring, the club gathered for a typical Spanish dinner, and, at the year's end, awarded a savings bond to the Spanish student with the highest average.

A busy year for members of the Junior Classical League began with an induction ceremony conducted in the classical Roman tradition. JCL members spoke on aspects of first, second, third, and fourth year Latin. At its annual Christmas party, JCL celebrated Eo Saternalia, a Roman festival.

A Valentine's Day party featured foreign exchange student Hans Emmert, who told about his native Germany and his experiences in the United States. An explanation of Roman Valentine customs was also presented.

Future Teachers of America share the stage

AFTER FTA ASSEMBLY officers Armfield, Kellett, Williams, McCarley, President Boyles, and Fleisher pose with speaker Dr. Craig Phillips, State Superintendent of Education.

Through panels, discussions, and speakers, the Future Teachers of America learned more about the teaching profession. When State Superintendent Dr. Craig Phillips addressed the student body in November, all 65 FTA members were on the stage to "back him up."

Future Teachers marshalled at a statewide FTA convention, a National Education Week banquet, and an NCEA meeting. In February, Miss Lucille Browne, Director of Guidance Services, spoke at a citywide FTA meeting which Grimsley's chapter sponsored. Other meetings featured student teachers and educators from specific fields.

The audience waited in hushed anticipation for President Kornegay's words. "I now challenge you, member of Torchlight, to go forth and seek out those worthy of membership in Torchlight National Honor Society." Bearing flickering candles, the white-robed members glided into the audience to summon thrilled classmates with a tap.

Twenty seniors were chosen in the fall, and more seniors and a few juniors were inducted in the spring. Members were required to maintain a 3.4 average. Torchlight offered a tutoring service, its talent show, and a scholarship for a deserving senior.

Service is that which one person does for another which is helpful, beneficial, and friendly. Grimsley has an abundance of those willing to serve. The spirit of service is evident as students go about it with cheerful smiles and obvious enthusiasm. Aiding new students, helping with community projects, contributing to classroom and teaching facilities, and assisting with administrative duties are all part of the world of service at Grimsley Senior High.

EXPRESSING student appreciation, Tye Hunter presents Thanksgiving baskets to the janitorial staff.

Margaret Shelton organized the Student Council's largest project of the year, Project HOPE. After a well-planned assembly and homeroom campaigns, student donations totaled one thousand dollars, the amount necessary to commission two doctors for a year aboard the U. S. hospital ship HOPE.

To glean ideas, Grimsley members attended district meetings and a state convention in Greenville. Other student councils in the city were invited to attend Grimsley's meetings, and a Council member was often stationed at the main desk to welcome visitors. On a regular basis, the Council issued birthday greetings, condolences, and welcoming letters to rival teams.

In an effort to better inform Whirlies, each Student Council member gave a weekly "Council Report" in two homerooms. Student criticisms and questions in the Suggestion Box were carefully evaluated. The Student Council also gave each janitor and maid a Thanksgiving meal, and junior members planned the Junior-Senior Prom.

After much discussion, a committee headed by Bill Buckley completed a revised Honor Code. Vice President Walters planned assemblies, and Karen Culbreth was in charge of the 1969 May Day, "The Wizard of Oz." Led by President Hunter, the Council again sponsored School Beautiful and Pep Board.

Under the creative guidance of Gibbie Edwards, the Youth Recreation Council met every Monday at seventh period to plan activities for GHS students. For the fifth year, YRC sponsored the annual Homecoming display contest.

In December, members gave toys and a party to children in the Smith Homes area. Then, in the youth division of the Christmas Parade, Grimsley's versatile YRC won first place for its "Christmas in the City" float. All year long, YRC delighted Whirlies—with open houses, Twirp, and a December dance co-sponsored with Student Council.

Henretta co-ordinates GYC projects at Grimsley

The 81 members of the citywide Greensboro Youth Council began their plans for this year in early August. With students from Page, Smith, Dudley, and Curry, Grimsley's elected councilmen divided into 11 project committees.

Led by District Director Hank Henretta, Grimsley's 23 councilmen kept Whirlies informed, with telephoning campaigns, an open house in the fall, and the GYC bulletin board. Highlights among GYC projects were: teen action reports, the Teen-Age Carnival, the Youth Plaza, a new TV show, Christmas parade floats, an art contest, Project Skinny, the Teen-Age Talent Show, and evenings for teens at the Showboat, the Barn, and the Jokers Three. At the Asheville conference in March, Susie Levy was chosen state vice-chairman.

Bus drivers chauffeur 2900 students each day

ADVISOR Mr. Glenn helps solve drivers' problems each morning in bus driver homeroom.

Thirty-five Whirlies served as student bus drivers this year, providing safe transportation for students at eight city schools. Tommy King was elected president of the Bus Club.

Of the many organizations at Grimsley, the bus drivers' group is one of the most consistent in service. Each morning of the school year, these students transported a total of 2900 students to Kiser, Lindley, Hunter, Claxton, Brooks, Craven, Sternberger, and Grimsley schools.

Under the capable guidance of its advisor, Assistant Principal Glenn, the club has been in existence since 1956. Unless bad weather warranted the postponement of classes, the GHS bus drivers sacrificed sleep to chauffeur active youngsters. The student bus drivers drove an average of 550 miles each month and an approximate total of 143,550 miles this year.

Mr. Glenn is the faculty advisor of the squad. All boys on the squad are members of the Senior Class.

GHS Traffic Squad directs thundering herds

A few minutes before classes change, the members of the Traffic Squad race out of their classes and through Grimsley's hallowed halls. Their classmates watch them enviously as they leave early, but their envy is soon transformed to pity. The bell sounds, and twenty-one hundred students converge upon the squad, rushing in the "out" doors and up the "down" stairs.

With football hero Ralph Voight as its chief, the 1968-1969 squad attempted to patrol and control Whirlie crowds between classes. With the experience and nonchalance of hardened veterans, Traffic Squad members channeled classroom commuters, directed bewildered sophomores, and befriended homesick transfer students.

The phone rings. "Grimsley Senior High School," responds a student's cheerful voice. The eternally noisy telephone is but one of the many needs which are answered by corps of dedicated volunteers. Book room assistants check textbooks, school store helpers vend supplies, and the stage crew aids in weekly assembly productions.

Some students help for entire periods, often foregoing study halls. In Grimsley's nerve center, the main office, students perform clerical duties and direct visitors. Assistants to the Dean check attendance, research absences, and transmit messages, while the guidance assistants locate college and career materials and arrange appointments for visitors.

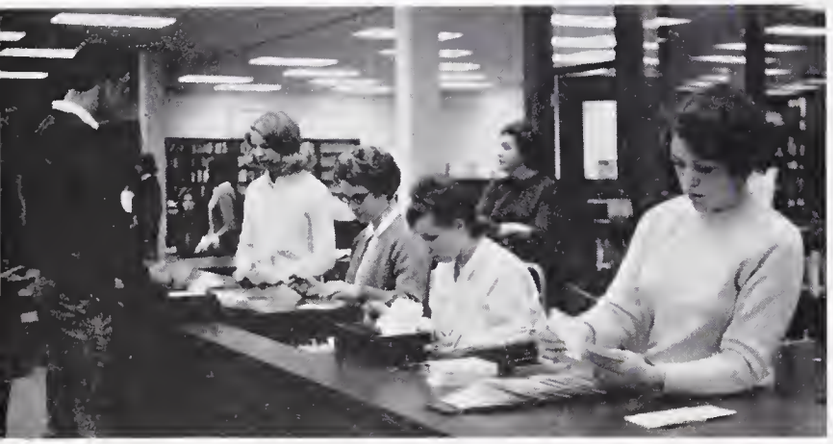
North Central District officer is GLC's Fields



MANY DIVERSE materials and books pass through the hands of volunteer assistants each period.

For 24 years, the Grimsley Library Council and its advisors, the librarians, have assisted students and faculty members in the use of library facilities. In their daily services, the assistants issue books, obtain reserve materials, collect book fines, and stamp permit slips. Now well-established in Grimsley's spacious, year-old library building, the Council met on Wednesday mornings to evaluate its duties and problems.

As a member of the North Carolina High School Library Association, the Grimsley Chapter sent delegates to the April convention. A Grimsley junior, Connie Fields, served as vice president of the North Central District.

REPLACING books properly on shelves is done by conscientious assistants.

High Life staff rallies

Despite an early financial crisis, the High Life staff rallied to continue to publish the only weekly high school newspaper in North Carolina. Led by Editor Sue Tucker and an energetic new advisor, Miss Lovett, the staff produced editorials, surveys, news reports, cartoons, creative writings, and a new item called "Clublicity."

Once again, a popular section was "Letters to the Editor," in which High Life readers aired their opinions on controversial subjects. Always facing the staff was the printer's weekly deadline, which was succeeded by the distribution of High Life on Mondays.

Even before last year's book appeared, the 1969 Whirligig staff had begun to create a dedication, theme, and arrangement for the twentieth annual yearbook. Advisor Powell and the two co-editors, Literary Editor Bonnie and Managing Editor Fred, discussed and decided the book's production and special features.

In August, the staff reassembled to solicit advertisements from the business community. Trudging up and down Greensboro's steamy sidewalks, staff members were spurred onward by Craig and assistant Susie.

October brought the fall sale of Whirligig and a flurry of communications with Meyer's over senior pictures. Classes were interrupted as Barbara and Waban commanded several hectic days of group picture-taking.

Closeted in storage spaces, writers Carolyn, Emily, Ellen, and Weedie pecked away at discarded typewriters. In 861, Nancy, Brenda, Karen, Pat, Berry, and Susan wrote section copy, while Tom and Bob tackled sports and Howard and Jim took "candid" shots.

While Cindy typed identifications, Jody and Brenda compiled the index, Linda investigated the faculty, and Bill and Kyle cropped pictures. Senior editors Donna and Judy, junior editors Sue and Stuart, and sophomore editors Cindy and Gena chronicled the events and members of their classes.

When Mr. Fleming arrived to collect all three hundred pages of the book, every staff member breathed a sigh of relief. Left was only the suspense of waiting for the books' arrival.

Beautification campaign includes litter bag sale

MORE BEAUTIFUL campus is the obvious aim of many students who work on Saturdays and (bottom) PTSA chairman Mrs. Ross Pringle and Mrs. Livingston.

With Rebecca White and Jimmy Palmer in charge, this year's School Beautiful committee revitalized student body concern for the appearance of Grimsley's campus. Sponsored by the Greensboro Beautification Department and the Greensboro Youth Council, the committee waged an energetic campaign against apathy on Saturday workdays.

Committees were created for all purposes, and enthusiastic members sold "Big G" litter bags. The group promoted special events during Anti-Litter Week and America Week and continued to supervise service clubs' work in various areas of the campus.

Interclub Council offers Club-of-Month award

The presidents of Grimsley's 16 service clubs united to form the 1968-1969 Interclub Council. Advised by Mr. Glenn and led by President Bill Buckley, the Council organized a parking lot sweep and promoted tentative plans for a city-wide Interclub Council.

Serving as a sounding board and governing body for the service clubs, the Interclub Council made stipulations affecting all of the groups. At its bi-monthly meetings, the Council offered ideas for projects and drives. This year, the Council created a "Club of the Month" award for outstanding services.

COORDINATION of service club projects and activities is accomplished in regular meetings with the advisor, Mr. Glenn.

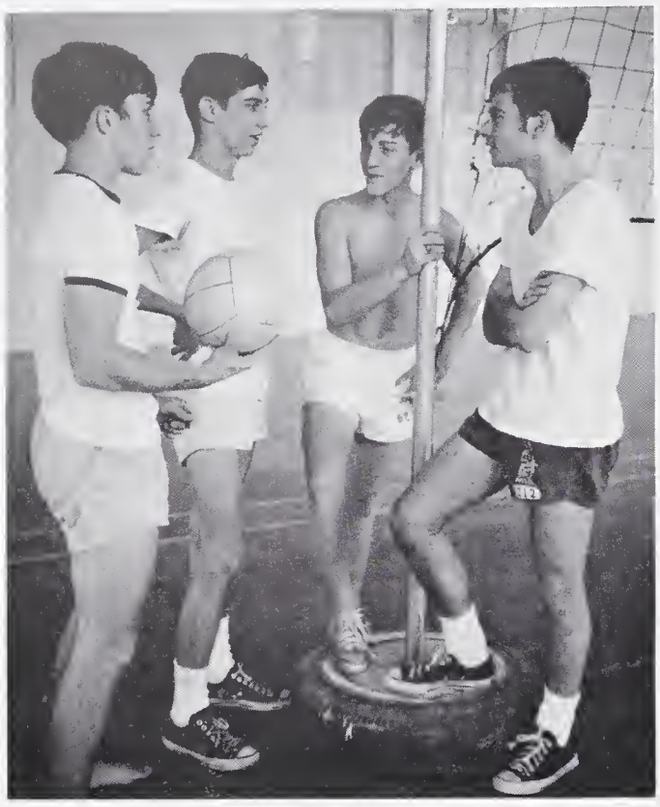
Grimsley High organizes city's first Leo Club



LEO CLUB president and three members plan strategy for interclub volleyball tournament.

In September, 1968, a new service club joined the fifteen clubs already at Grimsley. Sponsored by the Greensboro Lion's Club, the club was the first Leo Club to be established in a Greensboro high school.

Responding to intercom announcements, interested boys met with Lion Club members and elected David Ferris as president. Dedicated to the promotion of leadership, experience, and opportunity, the club began serving.

Leo members provided transportation at a party for the handicapped, ran a Teen Carnival booth, and participated in volleyball intramurals. In the spring, the Leo Club members sold "Go Whirlies" bumper stickers.

Optimist Club sponsors faculty-student game

Have you ever wondered who was responsible for the Faculty basketball game in January? This entertaining contest of agility and co-ordination rebounds to the Optimist Octagon's record. Another major project was the painting of the stadium. The club, now in its third year, is led by Ronny Dick.

Advised by Coach Canady and Mr. Bynum of the Breakfast Optimist Club of Greensboro, the Optimist members participated in School Beautiful and contributed money to Project HOPE.

Jr. Civinettes win first

The Junior Civinette Club was one of the first girls' service clubs organized at Grimsley. Led this year by President Susan Fruitt, the club sold Claxton fruitcakes to earn money for service projects and social functions.

Civinettes washed classroom blackboards for teachers and polished the school's trophies. While maintaining their rose garden, the girls volunteered for service drives and held several joint meetings with their brother club, the Civitans. The Civinettes' busy year was highlighted in November, when their Homecoming display won compliments and a first place.

Miller, Warner, Dellinger, Buie, McNeill, and Beaty.

Under the capable leadership of President David Miller, the Junior Civitan Club launched a successful Hallowe'en candy sale in order to finance its projects this year. Now in its twelfth year of existence, the club furthered "responsible leadership and good citizenship" with its participation in Project SHARP.

As a special service to bewildered sophomores and dislocated transfer students, the Civitans published the valuable Civitan Handbook. Advised by Mr. Caines, the thirty members in the club were active in local fund raising drives. Working in conjunction with the School Beautiful program, the Civitans also "farmed" a plot.

Proceeds from Exchangette sale buy materials

"Unity for Service," the motto of the Junior Exchangette service club, was the reason behind many of the group's projects this year. Exchangettes joined together in a fund drive for the prevention of tuberculosis. The Exchangettes also worked in their garden and helped in preparations for the "Miss Christmas Seal" contest. A Junior Exchangette, Pat MacDonald, won the GYC-sponsored contest.

Each year the Exchangettes give the Grimsley faculty an opportunity to request educational materials such as books, tapes, and films. Exchangettes purchased these supplies with their "Teachers' Fund." For club funds, Exchangettes sold football ribbons.

VARIED ACTIVITIES of Exchangettes include (above) selling blue-and-white ribbons and (below) clowning in the club garden when weather prevents work.

Junior Exchange gives $50.00 to Project HOPE

The Junior Exchange Club distinguished itself this year by leading other service clubs in their donations to Project HOPE. President David Heinz presented fifty dollars to the fund. Diversified in their many activities, Junior Exchange members participated in club intramurals, School Beautiful, and the Teen-Age Carnival.

Throughout the year, the Junior Exchange Club boosted Whirlie spirit. Members threw megaphones to the crowd at the Homecoming game and gave away ribbons at two other games. Serving the community as well as Grimsley, Junior Exchange members participated in Tag Days. Social events of the year included a dance and dinner meetings with the Exchangettes, and a hayride in the fall.

NEW MEMBERS of Jr. Exchange are Gay, Kelleher, Stafford, Hackney, Forsythe, Halstead, and Stogner.

Y-Teens volunteer to dust blackboard erasers

SPIRITED Y-TEENS blow up balloons to distribute at a football game.

Although the Y-Teens did not have their own School Beautiful plot, the club members appeared on Saturday mornings to volunteer their assistance. Since the theme of Homecoming '68 was "Up, Up and Away," it was especially appropriate that the Y-Teens gave away balloons for Homecoming.

When Thanksgiving approached, the Grimsley Y-Teens helped in the construction of the citywide Y-Teen float. At the beginning of second semester, members of Y-Teens initiated a second project, that of dusting blackboard erasers. Y-Teens sold Hershey candy bars, and the girls worked with Project SHARP throughout this year.

Mr. John Rountree is also a club advisor for the Philomathians.

Hi-Y members send a ton of clothes to Vietnam

As the oldest service club at Grimsley, the Philomathian Hi-Y claims seniority in experiences and projects. This year, Hi-Y members arranged a Christmas party for a group of underprivileged children. Held at the YMCA, the party featured a jovial Santa Claus. Hi-Y also worked with School Beautiful and donated money for the World Service fund.

When construction of the new YMCA was completed in January, Hi-Y meetings were conducted there. As a service to their sponsor and to the community, Hi-Y members also led visitors on tours of the spacious building. Although the club discontinued its traditional sale of GHS car tags, Hi-Y sent more than two thousand pounds of clothing to South Vietnamese children.

CHRISTMAS party for underprivileged boys is enjoyed by Hi-Y boys too.

Inspired by their active president, Martha Gabriel, the Junior Jaycettes participated in numerous service projects. The girls sponsored two School Beautiful plots and collected money in fund drives. The club contributed one hundred dollars for make-up mirrors to be used in play productions.

One of the most appreciated Jaycette activities was their annual organization of the GHS Buddy System. At the end of last summer, sophomores eagerly awaited the letters which reported their uperclassmen "buddies" for the first day of school. As vacation approached once again, Jaycettes offered their assistance in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

PREPARING to help the sponsoring Jaycees with the GGO tournament, Jr. Jaycee members get familiar with the "rough."

In an interior beautification project, the Junior Jaycee Club washed desks in GHS Classrooms. The clean desks boosted the morales of both teachers and students. In addition, the Junior Jaycees swept the parking lot, collected for Jaycee paper drives, and campaigned for the Heart Fund.

A new and successful club undertaking was the sale of first aid kits. With Jim Krueck as president, members also sold GGO tickets, presented "Whirlie of the Week" awards, maintained their School Beautiful plot and plaza, and cavorted as Grimsley's Whirlibird mascot at sports events.

ON BONE-CHILLING Sunday in January five members assist in sweeping the parking lot.

Once again, the O. Henry Juniors offered their time and energy to Project SHARP. The club also sent dolls and supplies to a vietnamese orphanage.

O. Henry Juniors published a club yearbook for the first time, and the group attended church services with its brother club, the Key Club. At the Sub-Juniors convention, OHJ Margaret Shelton was elected president.

CHRISTMAS holidays offer opportunity for club luncheon honoring the Page O. Henry Juniors.

Key Club dedicates '68 Directory to Mr. Routh

Once again, Key Club members swept the stadium after football games, sometimes working until two o'clock in the morning. In addition, the Key Club gave Alma Mater cards to incoming sophomores, helped with charity drives, and cleared their garden plot.

During the basketball season, the club sponsored a faculty basketball game. The contest intensified spirit while netting funds for other Key Club projects. Dedicated to Mr. Routh, the free Key Club Directory contained more ads and pages than ever before.

ELATION of Key Club members comes from seeing directories completed and counted for homeroom distribution.

Seniorettes learn to serve and serve to learn

AT PARTY held by the Seniorettes before Christmas, gifts were collected for a needy family.

Conducting many beneficial activities, the Seniorette Club fulfilled its motto—"to learn the needs of others through service." In order to finance their service projects, Seniorettes sold Nestles' candy bars.

Two needy families profited from Seniorettes' assistance during winter holidays this year. At Thanksgiving, club members purchased food for a family, and at Christmas they donated toys and games to the children of a second family. Seniorettes also maintained a School Beautiful plot.

As members of the newest girls' service club at Grimsley, Seniorettes collected diligently for several funds. Both the Heart Fund and the Muscular Dystrophy drive benefited from Seniorettes' door-to-door campaigns.

Interact sponsors exchange student Hans Emmert

Learning American customs and Grimsley traditions meant an exciting year for Hans Emmert of Regensburg, Germany. As the Interact Club's foreign exchange student, Hans spent one month in each of twelve members' homes. He addressed several groups, including the Rotary Club, which sponsors Interact, and the statewide Interact convention in February.

Every month, the Interact Club published an events calendar, which was distributed to all homeroom students. The calendars reported upcoming assemblies, sports events, and social happenings, and they featured the photograph of one senior girl per month. Interact members also supported School Beautiful, raked leaves, and ran a booth at the 1969 Teen-Age Carnival.

Charioteers coordinate charity and conviviality

Before home football and basketball games, Charioteers fastened blue and white streamers on all the cars in the parking lot. The club reconstructed its School Beautiful plot, took part in various fund drives, and was honored by a Charity League luncheon.

Twelve Charioteers became "models for a day" on March 11th, when the club held its annual fund-raising fashion show at Christ Methodist Church. Members sold tickets for the show, and the spring fashions modeled in the show were provided by Laurie's.

Sub-Juniors sell wares to aid underprivileged

Many underprivileged children were grateful to Grimsley's Sub-Junior Women's Club for their community center work. At their state convention, Sub-Juniors won an award in the International Affairs department, and Carolynn Kornegay was elected vice president.

The club raised money by selling candy, and members helped their sponsoring Junior Women's Club sell Christmas cards. With Pam Hoffman as President, the Sub-Juniors held hayrides and parties, and the members attended church services together.

Skill is a dedication to improvement and a challenge to do the very best possible job at every opportunity. It includes a sensitivity to and an appreciation of the qualities of skill in others. Skill means being the most outstanding and still having the patience to encourage others toward improvement. Most important, skill is the willingness to share its production and benefits freely among all.

Grimsley's Symphony Band ranks first in state

BAND DIRECTOR'S lasting satisfaction derives from combined talents of students and staff.

With more specialized band teachers than any other high school in the state, Grimsley's Symphony Band ranks first in North Carolina. The band performed at the anniversary banquet of the local Chamber of Commerce in December, and Symphony Band members attended a music clinic in November.

Last summer, the Symphony Band traveled to Nassau and played in a concert to raise money for a music foundation. A trip to Bermuda is scheduled for this coming summer. During the past year, the Symphony Band presented five concerts, and 33 Grimsley students were chosen for the All-State band.

Grimsley's bands improve many fine occasions

Conducted by Mr. Rooker, the Concert Band performed in five concerts. In each of its performances, the 76 members of the band played during the first half, and the Symphony Band completed the evening's program.

The enthusiastic Pep Band offered pre-game and half-time music at home basketball games, playing both modern jazz tunes and Whirlie fight songs. All 81 members of the Marching Band presented half-time shows at Grimsley's football games. The group performed at every home game and also marched in the city Christmas parade.

A music theory course was added to Grimsley's curriculum this year. Supplementing instruction in the beginning and advanced glee clubs, the course included the elements of music and harmony. Members of the three choruses composed original pieces, practiced calisthenics, and gave a February concert.

The beginning glee clubs were composed of sophomores. While a few talented juniors were chosen for the Choir, most girls in the Advanced Chorus looked forward to joining the Choir as seniors. Once again, the Advanced Girls' Chorus gained a rating of superior in the State Festival and sang for Torchlight tappings.

This polished group performs four concerts a year for the student body and the public, often featuring its smaller groups.

School Choir has new musical group, the Sextet;

APPROPRIATELY dressed for caroling, Madrigal singers are gay and colorful in the Choir's Christmas concert.

The first major presentation of the Choir was "Gloria," directed by Dr. Richard Cox from UNC-G and held at Grimsley in November. On December 5th, the Choir performed for the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Coliseum and saluted poet Carl Sandburg with a musical rendition of his poem, "Skald of Flat Rock."

At its assembly program in December, the Choir sang traditional Christmas carols and featured its smaller musical groups — the Madrigals, the Queen's Men, and a group formed this year, the Sextet. In late February, the Choir joined with the other choruses to present an entertaining concert.

QUEEN'S MEN Arrington, Selders, Johnson, and Huffine carry on GHS tradition of combing singing talent and catchy songs.

TO FINANCE their trip to Nassau, choir members sell light bulbs by the hundreds.

Madrigal singers and Queen's Men harmonize

With their superior vocal blend, the 16 Madrigal Singers delighted many audiences this year. These outstanding choir members performed for the city Christmas tree lighting, a DAR meeting, a Kiwanis meeting, and Mr. Ronald Hill's wedding in March. The four members of another traditional singing group, the Queen's Men, devised many of their own arrangements.

EUTERPE-SYMPHONIA—Front: Williams, Mims, Bilisoly, Daniels. Back: Truitt, Johnson, Johns, Bell.

In its third year, the citywide La Nora Board Recital Club continued to provide opportunities for its musical members to perform in public. Several formal recitals were held during the year, and individual members were sponsored in private recitals. La Nora featured talents in voice, wind and stringed instruments, and piano.

Young musicians from several local high schools comprised the membership of another recital group, the Euterpe-Symphonia. Once again, members sold candy and awarded an Eastern Music Festival scholarship to a worthy member. In April, three members were selected to perform for Symphonia's sponsor, the Euterpe Club of Greensboro.

Express yourself! Open your world to art! Remember when education was only verbal? Now you can visualize, create, and express yourself! Neophytes learn basic designs, then tackle new techniques. Advanced art courses at GHS encourage individual interpretation and investigation.

Opportunities for training in technical drawing are open to girls as well as boys. Technical drawing courses feature geometric designs, drawings, structural plans, and constructions of full-scale models. This training develops artistic and mechanical skills in Grimsley's future architects and engineers. Mr. Darnell teaches technical drawing; Mrs. Richardson instructs art classes.

Actors receive honor

STONES for "Spoon River" production are painted by student director Kay, Creagh, Burgess, and set designer Maron.

An evening of one act plays highlighted Playmasters activities. In early spring, the young thespians produced "This Night Shall Pass," the recognition scene from "Anastasia," and excerpts from Spoon River Anthology. After a summer in Governor's School, President Jeanes reported valuable acting techniques, and Playmasters prepared plays for district competition.

Playmasters received a high honor this year. It was one of only two high school dramatic clubs in the state which was invited to present a play at the fiftieth anniversary of the Carolina Dramatic Association. This folk play, "Fix-in's," was given in March.

Dramatics and speech classes offer opportunities

In dramatics class, students learn the basic concepts of play production, then master techniques in makeup application, voice projection, and blocking on stage. The dramatics students are always encouraged to participate in Playmasters' activities.

Both the dramatics and speech classes are taught by the Playmasters' advisor, Miss Causey. In speech, students wonder whether "To speak, or not to speak?" Annual speech contests about citizenship and the United Nations give students a chance to earn money and trips. Paul Nunis won fifty dollars for his five-minute talk on "Freedom's Challenge" in the early spring of 1969.

Students learn homemaking skills at Grimsley

In Family Life, Home Economics, and Child Development, Grimsley students discover new aspects of homemaking. An always popular co-ed course, Family Life, familiarizes seniors with situations varying from matrimony to parenthood. In Home Economics courses, students investigate the practical talents of nursing, sewing, and housekeeping. The girls also develop their cooking skills and learn of the pitfalls in consumer buying.

Child Development features daily contact with Grimsley's own kindergarten. In a semester-long project, each girl is solely responsible for one or more children. This year, these students were rewarded when their young charges dramatized fairy tales.

Students in Grimsley's Distributive Education class held jobs in wholesale, retail, and service areas. On field trips, the class traveled to Guilford Mills, Guilford Dairy, and other local businesses. At the DE convention last November, Sam Scott was elected president of District VI.

Once a month DE members convened for a breakfast meeting. In the middle of February, Distributive Education classes from three counties gathered at a district conference held in High Point. Two DE students from Grimsley won honors in competition in sales demonstration, Student of the Year, and job interview testing. Laura Bridges and President Scott were the two winners. On April 30, DE students from Greensboro high schools attended the annual "Bosses' Banquet" with their various employers.

MILITARY UNIFORM commands respect and impresses admiring females.

The Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps was introduced at Grimsley this year as one of only 17 units of JROTC in the United States. Eagerly awaiting their uniforms, the boys learned skills which will qualify them for officer merit. The uniforms were distributed shortly before Thanksgiving, when corps officers were appointed.

The program consists of a three-year course emphasizing citizenship and leadership. This first year included an introduction to customs, rules of conduct, first aid, drill, exercises of command, weapons, and marksmanship. With M/Sgt. Zales and Col. Booker in command, the marine cadets realized the necessity of disciplined order.

Sportsmanship is an attitude of fair competition. A true sportsman would rather test his skill in a nearly equal match than win easily. He accepts defeat for himself or his team by conceding victory to greater skill. Grimsley is made up of teams who work to sharpen their skill and earn victory. Whether in organized team sports, intramural games, or impromptu participation, Grimsley students strive to achieve the goal of sportsmanship.

Striving to utilize the ultimate of the body's strength, knowledge, and skill is the goal of all sportsmen. As the school year progresses students display sportsmanship in a panorama of activities. Fall brings grueling workouts for the crosscountry team and enthusiastic crowds to ever-popular football games. Basketball, wrestling, and swimming occupy the winter; while spring ushers in baseball, tennis, golf and track. Margaret Shelton headed the Varsity cheerleaders, while Betty Knowles led the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. During the 1968-1969 season, the "Pep Girls" sold "Go Whirlies" decals to raise money. Displayed on car windows, the decals helped the cheerleaders in their efforts to spread spirit.

Whirling Boots delight spectators at ball games

Well-established now after four years of service to Grimsley, the Whirling Boots have become a half-time tradition at many sports events. The exhausting hours spent preparing and practicing their dance routines were well worth the effort, and the Whirling Boots provided the beauty that the football and basketball teams lacked.

Special delights for spectators came when the Boots presented the Charleston in the fall and a Hawaiian hula dance in the spring. Accompanied by the Grimsley Marching Band or a tape recorder, the talented corps has performed for the Youth Week Parade, the Teen-Age Talent Show, and civic groups, as well as at GHS games.

For the 112 members of Pep Board, this was "the year that was!" The spirit was up and skits were hilarious. With energy and creativity, Chairman Skip Holt channeled Whirlie spirit into constructive areas. Sponsored by Student Council, the club organized buses for away games and presented Whirlie Booster awards at assemblies.

Before major games, members sold corsages and yarn voodoo dolls. Along with car painting and pep rallies, Boot 'Em, Sock 'Em, Smear 'Em, Lick 'Em, and Top 'Em days attracted record participation. The Locker Ladies, another delightful innovation, decorated the locker room before home games.

GAA ADVISOR Tamblyn reviews volleyball rules with girls who will officiate at junior high play days.

For 54 Grimsley girls, physical education did not end with class instruction. In the Girls' Athletic Association, they developed further skills while having fun. Club activities included volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, track, softball, and tennis.

Advised by Miss Addison and Miss Tamblyn, the girls officiated at junior high girls' athletic events and held a volleyball playday for junior highs. For the past two years, the GAA has won the Page-GHS volleyball tournament. Once again, the "Most Athletic" superlative went to a GAA member.

Girls' gym classes feature skills for future use

The 1968-1969 physical education program for GHS girls placed greater emphasis upon athletic activities with "carryover value." The three gym teachers, Miss Addison, Miss Tamblyn, and Miss Haley, planned their instruction accordingly, stressing sports skills which would be valuable in later life as well as in gym class.

According to city school requirements, students must take at least two years of physical education. After this year, formal health instruction will no longer be required. The girls' sports this year included speedball, volleyball, tennis, gymnastics, basketball, track, and archery.

More than 600 boys were enrolled in physical education classes at Grimsley. Coaches Murr, Robison, and Sawyer stressed running as the best exercise, and Coach Jamieson commented that the boys were in better physical shape than ever this year. New surroundings were provided for weight training, and Grimsley's first soccer team was formed.

All boys who earned a varsity letter were eligible for membership in the Monogram Club. The group sold Whirlie cushions, distributed programs at football games, and promoted better sportsmanship and friendship among boys in different sports programs.

Strong backfield pays off for '68 football squad

With the sweltering heat of mid-July came the organization of the 1968 football squad, a squad composed of previous Whirlie lettermen and outstanding junior players. The fall season opened with a game against Raleigh. Quarterback Rick Halstead advanced the team within a yard of the goal line, but upon primary contact with the ball, the team was unable to make the final TD effort. So went the Whirlies' offense throughout the season, piling up yardage but always finding the going rough at the opponents' goal line.

BOB JONES plays a vital part on the football team as he carefully tapes Lynn Edgerton.

The Raleigh game gave Coach Jamieson insight into the Varsity's abilities. Spearheaded by full-back Hal Durham's outstanding performances, the offensive was fairly strong. Draw plays performed by Durham and junior Leonard Sugg were the key to the Whirlies' three victories.

The Grimsley defense was sparked by Heber Whitley's great tackling ability, along with the rushing of Warren Woods. Although the importance of the defense is too often forgotten, strong defensive ability was featured in many of Grimsley's football games last fall.

WHIRLIE FULLBACK Hal Durham runs for side line. Durham is the only member on the football squad chosen to play in East-West All-Star game.

The 1968 Junior Varsity football team, composed completely of Grimsley sophomores, started the season off well this year by defeating the North Forsyth team in its opening contest. With this win in their initial game, the players carried the GHS spirit with them for the remainder of the season, winning nine straight, shutting out three opponents, and thus outscoring their foes 152-56. In the playoff game with East Forsyth, the game was climaxed disappointingly with a last-second touchdown by East Forsyth. If the team had won the playoff game, it would have become a conference champion and a contestant for the regional title.

During the basketball season, the Whirlie cagers faced some of the top teams of North Carolina, as well as the usual keen competition of the Central 4-A conference. With five seniors as its starting five, the team was led by forwards Steve Warner and Dick Gordon in outstanding performances.

Rebounding power was provided by 6'7" Lindsay Cook, while the quickness of guards Grundy McCall and Bob Dupree baffled many opponents. Plagued by a knee injury, guard Dave Miller saw limited action in most games. These lettermen, with top reserves Dale Abell, Mike Dempsey, and Danny Dellinger, paced the Blue and White to a 6-4 conference record—good for third place in the tight conference race.

When a team has seven out of thirteen sophomores in the starting lineup and wins twelve of fourteen regular season games, then watch out! Such a team was the GHS wrestling team in '69.

Sophomore Alvin Bost and senior Dave Ferris competed in the state finals, and Ferris obtained a position of commendable finish in the statewide meet. In conference competition, the wrestlers proved their agility and skill by capturing second place.

Whirlie tankmen reign as finest of all swimmers

Monopolies have become a tradition for Grimsley's swimming teams. The 1968-1969 season was no different for the Whirlie tankmen, since the team captured the State Championship for the fifth consecutive time.

Remaining undefeated throughout the season, the swimmers outdistanced every challenger. The finale came when GHS amassed 54 points, bypassing second-place Chapel Hill and thereby reigning as champions once again.

Distance winner Louis Allen set both school and conference records, juniors Jack Boxman and Rick Barth swam breaststroke, and sophomores John Dewey, Ron Self, and Rick Kinard proved strong in the freestyle, backstroke, and butterfly.

'68 Cindermen track down City-County meet title

STRONG THIGHS enable Chuck Matthews to leap long distances in broad jump.

Depth proved to be the key to victory for the Whirlie trackmen in the spring of 1968. Strong in field events as well as on the cinders, the GHS thinclads were at their best in large conference tournaments. Climaxed by winning laurels in the City-Guilford County meet, the track season stimulated exciting competition and notable personal achievements.

Approximately sixty sophomores, juniors, and seniors participated in the track program. Although track is a team sport, the cindermen were on their own in individual competitions. As usual, the team's success was credited largely to several outstanding athletes. In the pole vault, Ronnie Allen vaulted almost twelve feet.

The team relied heavily upon valuable points brought in by miler Larry Forrester, shot putters BeBe Whitley and Glenn Morris, and broad jumper Eugene Reaves. Jerry Spivey broke his own half-mile record from last year, while Jerry Hornig achieved the commendable distance of 139½ feet in the discus throw.

Although the Whirlies gleaned only 34 points against Reynolds of Winston-Salem in an early season game, they came back strong in their later contests. Once again, for the third consecutive year, the Grimsley track team captured the overall championship of the City-Guilford county meet. Held in the late spring, the City-County track meet was open to all schools in the Guilford county area. Throughout the season, the Whirlies' abundance of skillful seniors and supporting underclassmen assured constant wins.

The '68 Whirlie putters set out for the state championship, placing first in the initial three meets. Steel-nerved players like Johnson, Iler, and Apple continued their winning ways with second places in the final three contests. Their potential was aborted, however, with disqualification at the sectional and state levels.

Scott Snavely goes to state finals for Tennis team

On the tennis courts, another team of Whirlies produced a comparatively successful season, thereby proving its latent potential. Although defeated by major conference foes, the tennis team triumphed over neighboring high schools and emerged with a 7-6 record.

While the Grimsley players suffered double losses to Reynolds, Page, and Burlington, victims included Smith, Dudley, Oakridge, and High Point. Scott Snavely, a 1968 graduate, and Robert Moss, now a junior, led the team's comeback after a five-year slump.

Powerful hitting, consistent fielding, and superlative pitching once again guided the GHS baseball team to a playoff berth and the conference crown. During the 1968 season, major pitchers Rick Pipan, Robbie Wilson, and Alva Minor recorded a total of ten shutouts in twenty games.

With three returning lettermen, the experienced infield was an additional asset. Keith Broome at first base, Randy McMasters at short stop, and Bobby Craven at third base were the mainstays of the squad. Bob Dupree, Allan Hutton, and Robbie Wilson all promoted winning results with their reliable outfielding. If the ability of the Junior Varsity players is any indication, the 1969 Varsity team will enjoy continued success.

The Junior Varsity baseball team, composed of hard-hitting sophomores, reigned as central 4-A champion for the consecutive year. Sociability is an ever-present characteristic of school life. Evident both on campus and off, sociability is an integral part of every student and every facet of Grimsley. It is present when two people meet in the halls or when hundreds congregate at a dance. It is displayed whenever students gather for a workday, a concert, or a meeting. Sociability is the quality which makes education the sharing of ideas, opinions, and experiences.

Sociability—a cheerful smile . . . a friendly word . . . an air of excitement . . . infectious laughter . . . the dull roar of many conversations—this is Grimsley. Sociability communicates the enthusiasm which enables Grimsley to carry on the tradition of spirited participation. Whether in class or between, at break or lunch, at pep rallies or games, sociability plays a major role in school life.

Whether tramping over leaf-strewn sidewalks in the fall, ice-cracked turf in the winter, or rain-submerged walkways in the spring, Whirlies dressed the part. Fashions at GHS featured kilts, dirndles, skin shoes, 'cloddies', knee boots, and leather fabrics.

Added variety to life at Grimsley came with a snow day in mid-November and beach weekend in May. Assembly guests ranged from political campaigners to Christmas carolers, while exams and holidays stimulated contrasting reactions in GHS students.

GHS HALLS through the years have been thoroughfares for shifting groups eight times a day.

Sometime before homeroom begins at 8:40 each morning, yawning Whirlies hurry onto the campus. Waving at people whose names they have forgotten and chattering with friends, they wield their way through the crowded main hall, stop at the school store for some notebook paper, and dump an armful of textbooks in their lockers.

Open houses, Homecoming, and TWIRP dance

AT OPEN HOUSE friends forget defeat or celebrate victory.

Inevitably, GHS open houses are noisy, stuffy, and popular retreats after Whirlie football games. For the four open houses held last fall, talented YRC members decorated the gym.

Homecoming '68 was a soggy event, with the displays necessarily moved to the gymnasium. Despite the disappointing weather and the postponed game, the dance was held, the court was presented, and radiant Margaret Shelton was crowned Homecoming Queen.

TWIRP, or "The Woman Is Required to Pay," demanded that girls lug books and open doors for boys. As always, the dance featured Valentine's Day.

'68 Midwinter's, Prom, and new holiday dance

HAIR STYLES may vary from one dance to another, but a treasured moment is ever the same.

Until this year, the Midwinter's Dance was a tradition at Grimsley. Last year, the Showmen and the Inmen provided music for the March event, and the theme of the dance was "Spring." This year, however, a new function replaced Midwinter's, and was presented at Christmas. Unlike the last several Midwinter's, the holiday dance was not "snowed out!"

The finale of the Grimsley's social agenda was the annual Spring Prom. Enticing decorations and soothing music completed the mood of the evening. The romantic theme of the Prom was "Teahouse of the August Moon," and Barbara Lewis and the Divots provided music.

Seniors leave Grimsley

A stiff breeze blew as Queen Suzanne Wyatt reigned over never-never land on Grimsley's lawn. Pirate cries and Indian war whoops mingled in the air as Peter Pan and his lost boys entertained the May Court. In its traditional tribute to the Queen, the court performed a graceful minuet. Just as Peter promised never to forget his friends, the audience will long remember the winsome fantasy of May Day '68.

The painters had become such a familiar sight at Grimsley that they reappeared as two starring characters in the 1968 Class Day assembly. Familiar tunes with ridiculous lyrics accompanied clever portrayals of 'everyday' activities. Depictions of homeroom sales and a library lecture highlighted the seniors' successful revenge.

1968 CLASS DAY satirizes familiar aspects of GHS life: peripatetic painters, library use and disuse, driver training problems, Macbeth's unsightly crones.

Spirit is the enthusiasm of a crowd or the firm stand of an individual. It is the will to do well and to never give up. The genius of spirit is the sincerity of every individual involved. Spirit is a combination of many attributes: the eagerness and the will to serve, the sociability to contribute in a crowd, the scholarship to temper spirit with knowledge, and the sportsmanship to channel spirit in the right direction.

PHILIP J. WEAVER
Superintendent of Greensboro Schools from July, 1958, to March 15, 1969

The Greensboro Board of Education served many city schools this year with improvements to campuses and buildings. Mr. Howard L. Butler succeeded the late Mr. Richard Wilson on the Board, and Mr. Owen Lewis was appointed to the newly-created position, Director of Public Information and Publications. When Superintendent Weaver was repeatedly confronted with HEW difficulties and impasses, his efforts were openly lauded by the board, school patrons, and students.

The death of Superintendent Philip J. Weaver on March 15, 1969, left in all who knew him an immeasurable sense of sadness and loss. Greensboro and North Carolina had lost a man of strong character, of superior courage, and of great vision.

Led by President John Barney, board members worked diligently to increase membership and attendance at the Parent-Teachers-Student Association meetings. At its fifth and final meeting, the board honored Mr. Routh and his wife Margaret. With the PTSA board members, GHS students and parents arranged for an "Honor Mr. Routh" night, and the faculty planned an honorary dinner and gift presentation.

MR. A. P. ROUTH relaxes at home after a long and hectic day at GHS.

Known throughout the state as an excellent administrator, Mr. A. P. Routh is a faithful member of the NCEA Board of Directors. Since he became principal in 1934, Mr. Routh has attended countless professional meetings, Whirlie games, and GHS social events.

In his final year as Grimsley's principal, Mr. Routh added three beneficial courses to the curriculum. The introduction of a music theory course, computer science, and the ROTC program all reflected his constant efforts to provide varied educational opportunities for Grimsley students.

WILD DESIRE for a driver's license makes 7:30 classes and tiresome jobs worthwhile.

Strange and exciting new world of GHS

ON CLASS DAY 1968 the junior high presidents—Rickey Whaley, Mary Beth Summers, and Mike Frierson—accept sophomore class colors from departing seniors.

Sophomore elections, the only school campaigns held in the fall, began our first year at GHS. At the close of the inauguration assembly, we felt we had chosen good representatives. Our traditional class project began immediately, and we vended blue and white pencils with unified persistence.

Our class, the largest at Grimsley, resignedly accepted the ribbing and teasing of upperclassmen. With brusque initiations into high school life, our initial airs of superiority quickly vanished. We were told what to do, when to do it, and how to do it.

challenges sophomores

Alone, we searched for nonexistent elevators and monopolized drivers' training classes. With other spirited Whirlies, we vied for coveted positions and cheered our teams to victory. Gradually, we pushed forward—and were sometimes pulled up—with our own ideas and plans.

In academics, sports, and group activities, our abilities and our leaders have begun to assert themselves. Gone are the days when we toured these alien halls with handbook maps clutched in shaking hands. We, the Class of 1971, now belong.

PENCIL SALES, picture-taking, and frog dissecting are three things left in the memory of each sophomore after his first year at Grimsley.

YEARBOOKS—plus Cathy Cauthen, Janine West, and Judy Johnson—attract attention in room 861.

ANOTHER habitual bus ride for sophomores.

Lost Horizon, coveted rings, and plans for a

BILL WILKINS portrays a High Llama in Lost Horizon.

Our Junior Class was not classed as "junior" by any standards, but was a group with the willingness to accept responsibility and challenge. In the spring of our sophomore year, we carefully elected officers who would represent us as Juniors.

At the beginning of this year, we chose the Junior Marshals from our homerooms. These students ushered at many school functions, including concerts, the graduation program, and, of course, the Junior Class play. Many hours of work by many Juniors made "Lost Horizon" a well-earned success.

MR. JAY ARENA advises the Class of 1970 on many important projects.

JUNIORS WAIT patiently in long lines for sizing of rings.

FOR THESE juniors, open houses are work, not play.

prom highlight challenging year for Juniors

With pride, we ordered school rings and waited impatiently for their arrival. When they came, we marveled that these gleaming symbols of our efforts "just exactly fit!" Our record of success continued as we planned and presented a thought-provoking Thanksgiving assembly and honored our classmates with the Junior-Senior prom.

We tackled algebraic equations, analyzed chemical formulas, absorbed U. S. History, cheered at games, and earned our own "Badges of Courage." We now feel prepared to accept the opportunities and problems of the future.

IN LATER YEARS, many Grimsley graduates will regard their Junior Class rings with fond memories.

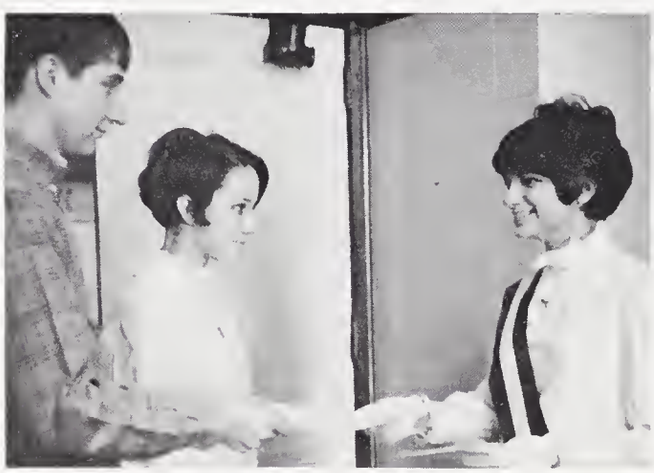
42 Juniors share the honor of Marshaling

MARSHAL Susie Levy distributes programs at a GHS activity.



Before the curtain rises for any evening performance at Grimsley, certain students must be present. Like the members of the stage crew, the Junior Marshals must appear, ready to welcome and seat the audience. Whatever the occasion or homework situation, these students marshal cordially.

This year, forty Juniors were elected from their homerooms to serve as Junior Marshals. Wearing blue - and - white sashes, they cheerfully collected tickets, distributed programs, and ushered visitors to their seats.

CO-ADVISORS Miss Joyner and Mrs. Roe discuss plans for a program with Carl McNeill and Chief Marshal Jimmy Palmer.

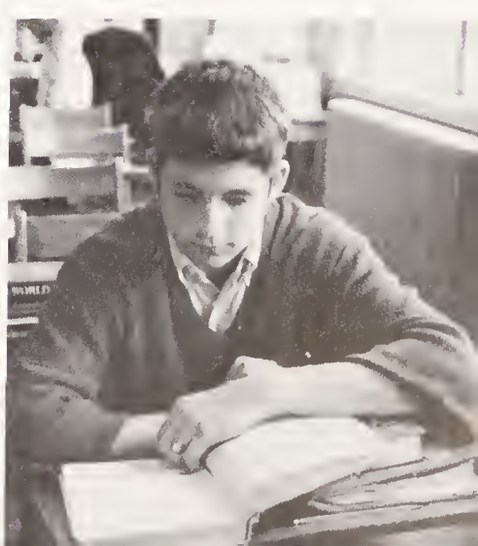
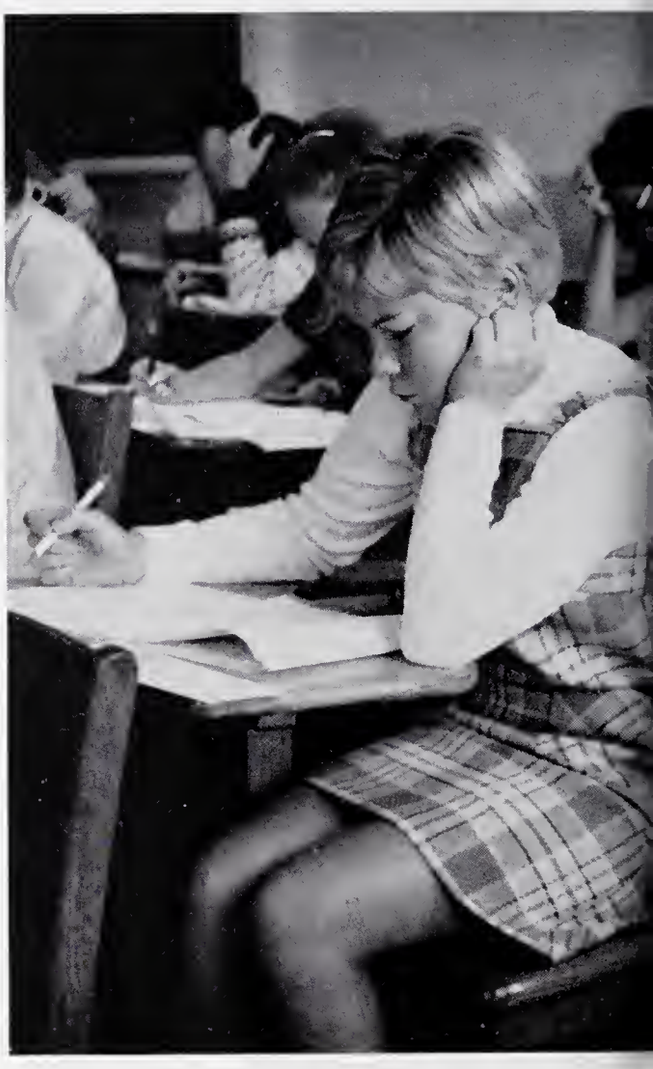
VERSATILE Juniors burgeon socially, physically, and mentally.



Our Senior Year...a time for evaluating our past

COLLECTING college catalogues is an avid hobby of Seniors seeking future admission.



UNFORGETTABLE experience for Seniors—the "all-important" SAT's.

Officers of the Senior Class are: Seated—Secretary Foltz; Treasurer Hodge. Standing—Vice President Heinz. Kneeling—President Morris.

A great part of our life at Grimsley has been influenced by traditions. Traditions have served as standards by which we judged the worth of our immediate endeavors. Traditions can only derive life, meaning, and value from the people who enact or adapt them.

When we entered Grimsley as sophomores, we encountered many novel practices. The unaccustomed "break" from the daily grind, the permission to leave the campus for lunch, the opportunity to acquire driver's education—these privileges gave us our first taste of high school life.

accomplishments and planning for future years

GRIMSLEY T-SHIRTS are introduced as class money-making project.

Gradually, however, we took these privileges for granted, and our interest centered on activities which required individual participation: projects, sports, and honor societies. "You Can't Take It With You!" won laurels as our Junior Class play.

As Seniors, we sold T-Shirts instead of ribbons, changed the method of Homecoming Court selections, and modified our Christmas pageant in order to give a party for underprivileged children. Our class, the Class of 1969, is grateful for the benefits and challenges which GHS has offered.

VITAL ROLE in class projects is played by Miss Amy Moore, Senior Class Advisor.

Seniors display innate

Last fall, the members of the 1969 graduating class chose twenty-eight seniors whom they considered superlative in various areas. As the year progressed and seniors expressed themselves in a multitude of ways, it almost seemed that two new categories might have been in order — "Most Progressive" and "Most Controversial."

and acquired qualities

A final superlative, "Best All Around," was announced at graduation. The superlatives reflected both academic and extracurricular activities at GHS. Their senior counterparts thus exemplified certain qualities — scholarship, service, skill, sportsmanship, sociability, spirit, and success — which are characteristic of GHS life.

Success is accomplishment, the reaching of a goal, or the completion of an assigned task. Success is measured by what is done, not by what should have been done. To be successful is to laugh often, to face each day with enthusiasm, and to have confidence in one's self and others. The success of Grimsley is evident in the accomplishments of the past and predictions for the future, for at Grimsley, success is a time-honored tradition.

success

PORTRAIT, Senior Class gift to the school, was presented on Class Day, 1952, to honor Principal A. P. Routh

...is the accomplishment

RADIANT Sue Wyatt approaches success as May Queen.

INDUSTRIOUS student is tapped into Torchlight.

SENIORS LISTEN to Commencement speaker, hoping to find new directions toward their futures.

of great ambitions and challenges

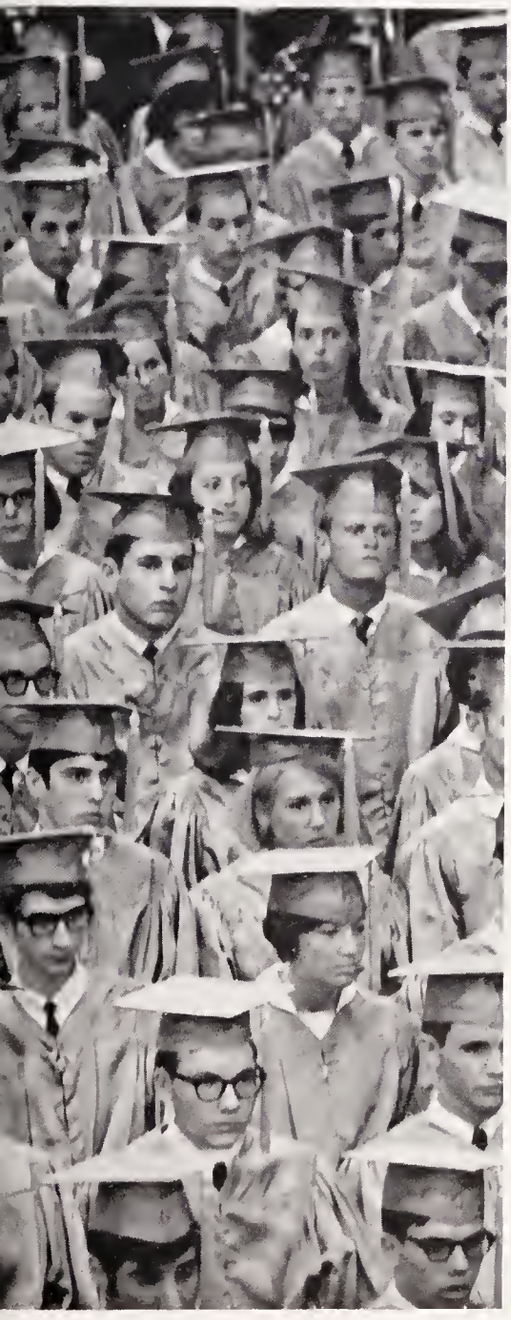
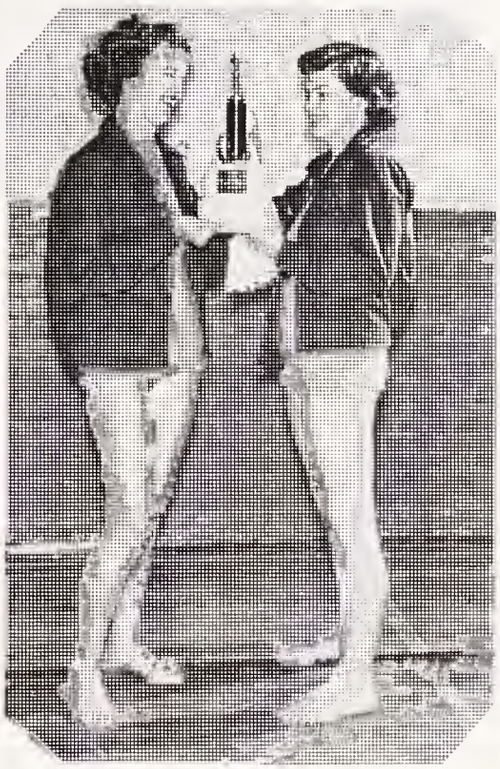
Success is to do well in anything attempted, no matter how small or great the task. Trophy cases filled with awards, nineteen years of All-American yearbooks, record-breaking athletes, a band, orchestra, and choir renowned for their excellence, graduates who have gone on to become successful community leaders, and a current student body growing and changing—all uphold the tradition of success at Grimsley.

MR. WHIRLIGIG, Bill Proctor, crops the last picture of this book.



SEA OF FACES mirrors conflicting and intimate emotions of seniors at graduation.



THOUGH GIRLS' swimming team has been discontinued, the trophies won stand as a monument to Whirlie dedication.

FIRM HANDCLASP is final contact with high school as a senior becomes an alumnus.

MR. CAROL MARTIN and MR. MALCOLM MILLER

MARTIN'S STUDIO

We are happy to be associated with such superior photographers, and grateful for the heightened quality and appeal the pictures give to each issue of WHIRLIGIG.

For nineteen consecutive years, WHIRLIGIG'S rating by the National Scholastic Press Association's judges has been their highest award — the "All American." We are confident that much of the credit for our book's success belongs to Martin's Studio.
